ABN AMRO Investment Solutions opens up its new due diligence digital platform to the market

Paris, September 20th - As a pioneer in multi-management and sub-advisory in Europe, ABN AMRO Investment Solutions is going a step further in offering due diligence services and the use of its new digital platform, Deeligenz. Developed in partnership with the fintech DEECISION, this digital platform optimizes the manager selection processes by improving the quality of the outcome and creating efficiencies.

The in-house digital platform, Deeligenz, is an important milestone of the ABN AMRO Investment Solutions' strategy. Thanks to it, the fund selectors will benefit from a secure and bespoke platform to ease their usual tasks and oversight duties.

ABN AMRO Investment Solutions brings the power of its technology and know-how to third parties.

The world of manager selection is changing and requires professionals to adapt to many new challenges. In particular, cyber security, anti-money laundering and ESG issues need to be integrated into the Operational and Manager Due Diligence (ODD & MDD) processes.

As a European pioneer in multi-management and sub-advisory for 25 years, ABN AMRO Investment Solutions has continuously enhanced its methodology as well as its selection capabilities and processes, materialized by Deeligenz. Amongst key features, the exclusive built-in Decision-Making framework and the systematic integration of the ESG component into the platform help to identify pure ESG players.

Convinced that due diligence is key in this selection process, the company opens its digital platform to the market.

Deeligenz, a powerful and innovative ecosystem

This in-house interactive platform helps the fund selectors to carry out all due diligence processes in an efficient and automated manner. It also helps to reduce operational and regulatory risks by structuring and securing the analysis of data, also by providing a complete follow-up at each step of the processes.

Developed for fund and manager selectors, this platform is collaborative and generates customized questionnaires that are directly fulfilled within the platform. It allows a great preciseness in addressing emerging or specific topics when needed. In this fast-evolving environment it is now key for selection teams to quickly get the sense of emerging risks as shown by regulator's new thematic reviews. This preciseness falls within the added efficiency that Deeligenz offers.

The platform brings together KYB (Know Your Business) and business performance, while automating cumbersome tasks and optimizing collaboration between teams to facilitate auditing and reporting.

François-Xavier GENNETAIS - CEO, ABN AMRO Investment Solutions explains:

"With an increased focus on management control and oversight, a robust due diligence process is non-negotiable. It requires a strong operational framework as well as a solid and thorough infrastructure to meet the needs of investors. We have been using Deeligenz for the past 3 years and with this proven experience, we are delighted to make this innovative tool accessible to our clients".

"Deeligenz is a key piece of our service offering. As a pioneer in open architecture, we know at ABN AMRO Investment Solutions how extent the process of analysis and selection of funds must be accompanied by excellent due diligence. In this respect, this solution represents a major step forward in terms of efficiency, speed and performance. It is also a new component of our subadvisory offering in accordance with one of our credo: innovate to create value".
